Using clean lines and a symphony of textures, this project connects the simple aesthetic of the architecture to the densely wooded site around it. The lower pool terrace and aggregate stone stepper path leading to it embrace several large trees. Lines of bright groundcover soften the edges of the pool terrace, while rugged specimen boulders and flowering trees add focal points and color. Set apart from the house and pool terrace, a custom wood-burning fire pit (with gas assist) provides a perfect gathering space.
